Dear Larry,

I sent a similiar letter via your website but I thought it would be good to send this letter to you directly.

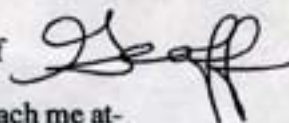

Having visited your website I know a lot more about what you have been doing and what you have gone through. Being a little bit of a rebel myself I can appreciate your integrity and creativity.

have come to a cross roads that connects my past with my future. And being the leader of PEOPLE! and then abandoning my responsibility has taken its toll on me for all these years. I feel that I let everyone down when I abandoned my responsibility as the leader of the group and allowed my brother participate in making decisions that were destructive to our group. And I never felt good about how I treated you for the several months before you left the group.

I know that ultimately your leaving was for the best as evidenced the immediate launch into your own successful solo career. But I feel I have a responsibility to make amends for the damage I caused to my fellow group members.

to get you touch with you and Gene. You should be hearing from him as well. I hope all is well.

Love Geoff
