Stones. The fast life of the jet set overtook me. A boyfriend started me experimenting with drugs. My mind kept going back to the day when I received Jesus Christ into my life as my personal Savior. I wondered what kind of a witness I was, anyway. God had given me a

me to do, but we broke up.

Then there was the matter of drugs. I was by no means an addict, but all my friends took dope. On another night I was reading my Bible in bed and I came to the verse, "Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit." I closed the Bible and started
